Young volunteers dig in to help local community

Mick gets down on one knee at Bank Quay station

Romantic Mick's on right track with platform proposal!

WHEN Mick McGuningle decided to propose to girlfriend Terri Matthews on Valentine's Day he chose what he reckoned to be the perfect location - the platform of a busy railway station on the inter-city West Coast Main Line!

And although it might not be everyone's idea of a romantic setting it had special significance for the couple from Skelmersdale.

For Warrington's Bank Quay station was where they first met and fell in love seven years ago.

And after hearing Mick's story, Virgin Trains wanted to help create a romantic and memorable engagement for the couple.

The company arranged for a busker to compose a song about the pair and perform it on the same platform where they met before Mick got down on one knee.

Luckily, 28-year-old Terri said 'yes' and to celebrate their engagement Virgin surprised them with a complimentary first-class trip to London and afternoon tea at Harrods!

The couple met at Bank Quay in January 2010 when both were travelling down south to see their families - 37-year-old Mick heading to London and Terri bound for Birmingham.

Mick said: "I thought I had everything when I found Terri, then we had our amazing children.

"Now I have the one thing I never thought I would be lucky

WASTE NOT, WANT NOT!

Report by Henry James

Project to create tasty meals from food destined for the bin goes down a treat

A COMMUNITY project which aims to use food destined for waste to create delicious and tasty, home-cooked meals where people can eat on a 'pay as you feel' basis in money, time or skills, is proving a hit with residents in Skelmersdale.

The Tanhouse Community Centre in Ennerdale, is the weekly venue for the first Real Junk Food Café in the town.

Initiated by The Birchwood Centre, the project is supported by community volunteers, West Lancashire College, Oaks Church in Tanhouse and Tanhouse Community Enterprise.

It intercepts food that would otherwise go in the bin, generously donated by Tesco in Burscough, Marks and Spencer in Ormskirk and Lidl in Standish as part of their food waste reduction programme.

The project has already served up more than 200 delicious meals to people in Skelmersdale and feedback has been good with people really enjoying this new experience.

Stella Connell from the Birchwood Centre said: "We are really astounded by the success of the project, delighted to be working with our partners and amazed at the attendance to date.

Stella Connell and Ann Petty meeting guests at the real Junk Food Cafe

"The support of local people, volunteers and West Lancashire College has helped us tremendously in making the Junk Food Cafe such a success."

And Ann Petty, from Oaks Church, commented: "I think it is incredibly exciting. I hate the whole idea of decent food being chucked out. There are people who can make good use of this food who live on this estate.

"It's great that we are getting people to come and eat in a space where they feel comfortable.

Council teams up with property companies to provide affordable homes to rent or buy

WEST Lancs Council has teamed up with two property companies to develop new affordable homes in Hesketh Bank and Burscough.

The authority has been working with the Regenda Group to develop 14 new properties for affordable rent and sale in Chapel Road, Hesketh Bank.

These are expected to be completed by May and comprise four two–bedroom houses, four three-bedroom houses and six two-bedroom apartments.

The houses will be available for shared ownership sale through Redwing Living, part of the Regenda Group, while the apartments will be available for rent.

The council has nomination rights for the rental apartments, and initial preference will be given to those with connections to the Hesketh Bank area.

The authority has also arranged with Taylor Wimpey Homes to provide five two-bedroomed houses for affordable rent at Delph Drive, Burscough, which are expected to be completed between April and May.

Regenda Homes, part of the Regenda Group, will own and manage these houses.

A computer generated image of the Hesketh Bank development

The council has nomination rights for three of the homes while the remaining two will be allocated directly by Regenda Homes.

Councillor Jennifer Patterson, West Lancs Council's cabinet member for housing and inclusion, said: "The council has made a commitment to providing affordable housing. The development of these homes is another example of how we are delivering that promise to people in our communities."

The rented apartments in Hesketh Bank and the three new homes in Burscough will be advertised on HomeFinder, the council's letting scheme. People will need to be registered with HomeFinder so they can bid for properties. Information on how to register is also available on the council website at www.westlancshomefinder.co.uk.

Residents interested in these properties are advised to check the website regularly as they will be advertised soon.

● For information about the shared ownership houses, ring Redwing Living on 0344 7360063 or email info@redwingliving.co.uk.

Family's 'sing a song for Hannah' plea to star Ed

"Photograph was played at the funeral as it was Hannah and Paul's 'special' song.

"As a family we want to keep Hannah's legacy alive and spread awareness and it would be great if Ed could play his song for Hannah. We're sure it would help to increase awareness of bowel cancer which was what Hannah wanted to do."

Following her initial diagnosis in May last year, aspiring air hostess Hannah created her blog, 'A Worthwhile Adventure' to document her treatment plan and the huge range of emotions that she was feeling.

Her words inspired thousands of people and despite her ongoing battle she continued to strive to record all aspects of her treatment, as well as giving regular live updates on her diagnosis and raising thousands of pounds for the Teenage Cancer Trust.

Concerned motorist labels road junction 'a death trap'

Report by Danielle Thompson

A MOTORIST who witnessed a collision between two vehicles at a West Lancs road junction where roadworks had recently been carried out has labelled it "a fatality waiting to happen."

Fortunately the accident at the junction of the A577 Wigan Road with Dick's Lane in Westhead, only resulted in minor injuries being suffered by a motorcyclist who collided with the side of a Mercedes.

But Barry Clark, who witnessed the crash, believes it is only a matter of time before someone is seriously injured or killed at the spot.

The 67-year-old production manager from Ashurst drives along Wigan Road every day on his way to and from work.

He says the problem is that following recent roadworks the road markings signifying the end of Dick's Lane where vehicles should give way to traffic on Wigan Road have been obscured by new tarmac. This extends out into Wigan Road resulting, he believes, in drivers approaching the junction mistakenly thinking they are safe to drive up to the edge of the tarmac.

Barry says he first noticed that Dick's Lane had been resurfaced by Lancashire County Council three weeks ago but that the road markings hadn't been replaced.

The father-of-four believed this was "an accident waiting to happen" and his fears were confirmed on Wednesday, February 15 when he was horrified to witness the collision when a Ducati motorbike being ridden along Wigan Road collided with the side of a Mercedes C220 waiting to emerge from Dick's Lane.

Barry says the policy of allowing the tarmac to be extended into the main road and left for weeks without extra warning signs or re-painting of the road markings, means the junction is a potential "death trap".

John Rimmer illustrates how far drivers are emerging into Wigan Road from Dick's Lane as a result of the lack of road markings or signs

And his view is shared by West Lancs MP Rosie Cooper who believes the incident "highlights serious concerns" that need to be tackled immediately.

Meanwhile, John Rimmer, one of the managers of Automotive 102 on Wigan Road said that there "have been no accidents for years and now there are two or three near-misses every day."

Barry Clark said: "It's been going on for weeks. I've seen cars waiting on Dick's Lane with no idea that they are sticking out dangerously far into the road.

"I've seen a number of near-misses and for weeks I've been thinking, that's a death trap and a fatal accident just waiting to happen.

"I was horrified to see the accident last week. I thought the bike rider had been killed and was relieved the injuries were not as serious as I feared.

"The cause of the crash was definitely a combination of the lack of road markings, the misleading tarmac edge and no warning signs.

"The council needs to finish a job as serious as this straight away. It's awful to think that someone could be killed by such a stupid mistake."

Rosie Cooper told the Champion: "The incidents at Dick's Lane have highlighted serious consequences for motorists and require the council to consider how they manage these works in the future.

"I believe that the road markings should be reinstated immediately or road signs used until the new markings can be painted. There are more vehicles on our roads than ever before. The highways authorities need to ensure that all necessary action is taken for our roads to meet the legal requirements to be as safe as possible."

John Rimmer commented: "There's not been an accident here in years but since it was resurfaced we see near-misses every single day – sometimes three."

A spokesman for Lancashire County Council said: "We haven't been made aware of any incidents following the recent repairs. However, the road markings at this junction are due to be replaced later this week."

Lancashire Constabulary confirmed that officers attended a collision at the scene on February 15 which resulted in a motorcyclist going to hospital with minor injuries.

The young volunteers at the Skem Creative Hub

Young grafters dig in to make a difference to community

A GROUP of unemployed young people from Skelmersdale and surrounding areas have rolled up their sleeves to make a difference to their community.

The group are currently engaged in the Prince's Trust Team programme at West Lancashire College which aims to help them acquire the skills, experience and confidence to help them find a job.

During the 12-week course, they have been fundraising and helping local communities.

The nine-strong group have been working on a garden area at Skem Creative Hub for two weeks.

They have cleared out and weeded the area to make way for some planters and a seating area which they have created and put together themselves using materials they have sourced via donations from local businesses.

They have also painted the metal fences and put a lot of 'elbow grease' into soaping down the storage facility.

The team members raised funds by bucket-shaking in Asda on Friday, January 27 and Thursday, February 2 to allow them to complete the project.

And they would like to thank West Lancs Paint and Varnish Company Ltd. and West Lancashire Construction Academy for their help with materials for the project.

Lorraine Murt, Prince's Trust Team leader for Skelmersdale, said: "I have been impressed with each of the learners. This wasn't an easy project, it involved a lot of manual labour and hard graft but all of their work has paid off and they have created an area that they can be proud of."

Three in four young people on Prince's Trust programmes move into work, education or training.

For more information on the course or future team programmes call Lorraine Murt on 07786361675 or email lorraine.murt@west-lancs.ac.uk.

For information about the Prince's Trust, visit www.princes-trust.org.uk or call 0800 842 842.

Business bosses invited to book their places for Ambassadors' next breakfast briefing event

BUSINESS chiefs with connections to the town are being invited to join the Skelmersdale Ambassadors at their next networking event.

The business breakfast event will offer an opportunity to find out about the latest developments in the town, hear from other local businesses and the chance to make connections with other businesses and organisations.

West Lancs Council says the group is becoming a powerful network to enable local businesses to raise their profile, as well as showcasing Skelmersdale as a great place to live, work and invest.

The network's second breakfast event will be held at the West Lancashire Investment Centre in Skelmersdale on Tuesday, February 28 from 7.45am.

Guest speakers will include Sir Edwin Booth, owner of Booths supermarket chain and chairman of Lancashire Local Enterprise Partnership; Phil Lynas and Colin Hill, founder, and managing director respectively at All About Food Ltd.; and Ross Taylor, chief executive of Buffaload Logistics Ltd.

Although the event is free to attend, booking is required in advance to secure your place. To find out more, email lets.talk@westlancs.gov.uk or call the council's economic regeneration team on 01695 712692.

Sir Edwin Booth

Leader of West Lancs Council and portfolio holder for economic regeneration, Councillor Ian Moran, said: "A key council priority is to be ambitious for our economy by growing jobs and encouraging business and wealth. I would urge local firms to sign up and become ambassadors for our town to help make the local economy even stronger, which will benefit everyone living and working here."

The council say Skelmersdale Ambassadors will act as powerful advocates to influence, attract investment and encourage business growth.

They will also be the first to know about exciting opportunities and developments in the local economy such as Lancashire Local Enterprise Partnership strategies, or funding opportunities and have access to the Skelmersdale storybook, artwork, images and many other marketing materials to help them promote their business and Skelmersdale, as well as increasing their network of contacts.

Shaun McClarnon, managing director at Brownlow Utilities Ltd. in Skelmersdale, said: "Having attended the Ambassadors launch event in November 2016 it was great for us to make new connections with local businesses who are positive about the town and its future prospects.

"I'm looking forward to acting as an ambassador for Skelmersdale, networking with other businesses and attending forthcoming events."

If you are unable to attend the event you can find out more about becoming a Skelmersdale Ambassador by visiting www.westlancs.gov.uk/skelmersdaleambassadors.

The lift at the Concourse

Work starts on second phase of Concourse lift refurbishment

WORK has started on the second phase to refurbish the public scenic lift at the Concourse shopping centre which will see it out of operation for a month.

A spokeswoman for the Concourse said: "We have now embarked on the planned second phase of the works to refurbish the public scenic lift.

"This started on Wednesday, February 15 and will last for approximately four weeks, to complete the refurbishment.

"This element of the work will focus on refurbishing the lift car and will include new doors, alarms, floor coverings and linings.

"While our specialist lift contractor works on the lift, a hoarding will be put in place, for health, safety and security reasons.

"In the meantime, we will assist our customers to move between floors. If any customers cannot manage the ramp, escalators or staircases and require assistance, the security control room can be contacted on 01695 723 712.

"We understand how frustrating the lift issues have been for our valued customers and tenants and we extend our apologies once again for the inconvenience."

Tenants at the Concourse had complained in September that the broken lift, broken escalators and the shutting of staircases could be deterring shoppers from visiting the first floor of the centre.

One trader told the Champion: "The escalator in the market area went off one day leaving the entire centre with no means of getting up except for the ramp, which even able-bodied people struggle to push a trolley up or down, especially when it's loaded with shopping.

"Traders on the upper level by the broken lift are complaining of lack of trade."

Police appeal for information after brick thrown at ambulance

POLICE are appealing for information following an incident in which yobs threw a brick at an ambulance on its way to a medical emergency.

The incident occurred on Monday, February 13 as the ambulance was making its way along Digmoor Road.

A police spokesman said: "While driving with its blue lights on, a brick was thrown off one of the bridges towards the ambulance.

"Thankfully, no-one was hurt on this occasion but the outcome could have been serious, not only for the ambulance staff but also the patient they were en route to. If you have any information or names of those responsible for this please contact us so that they can be dealt with."

Transport chief outlines proposed rail link route

FOLLOWING the recent announcement of the choice of the site of the former Glenburn Sports College as the preferred location for the proposed Skelmersdale railway station, Lancashire County Council's transport chief, County Councillor John Fillis has outlined the likely route the new line would take.

Cllr. Fillis said that the track would link into the Liverpool line via Kirkby and Manchester via Wigan, as well as providing access to Preston and the proposed HS2.

The Skelmersdale track would run off the existing Kirkby to Wigan line, running in and out along Whiteledge Road with road bridges over Grimshaw Road and Gillibrands Road, and gaining access into the town under the M58 motorway.

Trains would come into and out of the new station at the site of the former Glenburn Sports College at Yewdale.

Councillors delegate decision on Ashurst homes

WEST Lancs councillors have delegated a decision of proposals to build 45 two, three and four-bedroom homes at Ashurst.

At a meeting of the council's planning committee it was agreed to delegate the decision of the application by Gleeson Homes Ltd. to the director of development and regeneration, in consultation with the chairman or vice-chairman of the planning committee.

The scheme proposes to offer discounted market housing on all proposed units, and low-cost home ownership on various house types.

In the report for the meeting, the director of development and regeneration at West Lancs Council, John Harrison, said: "Subject to conditions, I am satisfied that the proposed development is compliant with the Local Plan in respect of drainage, highways and ecology.

"In principle I consider this scheme should be supported as it will deliver housing in a sustainable location and will offer wider regeneration benefits to the area."

Call for amendments to Tawd Valley cycle and pedestrian link scheme

Report by Henry James

OFFICERS are recommending West Lancs Council's cabinet to approve amendments to plans for the Tawd Valley cycle and pedestrian link in Skelmersdale.

Since the project, entitled the Barry Nolan Way in memory of the late councillor, was approved in August last year the borough authority has been told by Lancashire County Council that the cost of the scheme has increased.

It was said that this was because two bridges on the route would have to be replaced.

Also, the existing footbridge over Houghton's Road would have to be improved to enable bicycles to use the route safely.

This would also allow the county council to designate a cycle route to link the Tawd Valley route to the existing routes in the Manfield/Sumner Street area of Ashurst.

The scheme was first put forward in January 2014 when the cabinet delegated authority to officers and the cabinet member for planning.

A scheme was agreed and a planning application was submitted by the county council. The route was to run from Skelmersdale Library to the western end of the road named Irwell through the Tawd Valley, with a route coming off this main route into the back of the West Lancashire College Campus.

The Tawd Valley in Skelmersdale

The proposed amendments include:

- To use an alternative route for a section of the link through the Tawd Valley to use more of an existing footpath and to use a route which only needs improvements to one bridge.
- This route will finish at Irwell and any connections across Houghton's Road in Ashurst would be part of a second phase at a later date.
- There will be no lighting in these proposals.

In a report for the meeting, the director of development and regeneration at West Lancs Council, John Harrison, wrote: "The proposed scheme will help provide safer communities by providing a new route through the Tawd Valley, develop stronger communities by linking residential areas with educational, employment and social opportunities and provide improved health for all by encouraging cycling and walking."

Denise clocks up 40 years looking after town's teeth!

DENTIST Denise Forshaw is celebrating 40 years of practising in Skelmersdale.

A partner at the Sandy Lane Dental Practice within the health centre, she began her association with the profession in the town after qualifying from Liverpool University in 1977.

And dentistry certainly runs in the family, for as well as her younger sister, Denise has been followed into the profession by two daughters and a niece!.

Older Skem residents may remember that in about 1975, the dental practice moved from a semi-detached house at number 77 Sandy Lane into the health centre, along with other professionals as part of the redevelopment of the New Town.

The original dental practice was started by Mr Brown, probably more than 70 years ago making it the oldest practice in the town.

Denise said: "Dentistry has come a long way since I qualified and along with our wonderful, highly trained and friendly dental team of over 20 we have built the business up from a two to a six-surgery practice.

Privilege

"Our manageress, Linda Fairclough, has been at the practice even longer than me - even though, as she always stresses, she is younger!"

"The patients at our practice are brilliant - we must see about 10,000 appointments a year and they are all so very appreciative that it's been an enormous privilege and pleasure treating them all this time.

"I've loved my career and still really enjoy having a 'catch-up' at the surgery with the many people and families that I have treated over the past 40 years."

When she's not treating her patients in Skem, Denise keeps busy working on a dental appeals panel for the judiciary and for the Routine Care Network of NHS England, as well being the current chair for the fitness to practice panel of the General Dental Council.

And in her 'spare time' the mum-of-four enjoys family gatherings, painting, walking, gardening and travelling - as well as helping out in another family business!

Ant's aqua aerobics make a splash in Benidorm!

Report by Henry James

FORMER Skelmersdale resident Anthony Horadada has once again featured in the ongoing television observational series based in Spain, Bargain-Loving Brits In The Sun.

In the latest episode of the Channel 5 programme Anthony was looking to expand his keep-fit business from the quiet fishing village of Pilar to nearby tourist hot-spot, Benidorm.

The 32-year-old, who moved to Spain six years ago to start a new life after becoming addicted to drugs, runs keep-fit and aqua aerobics classes for ex-pats called Ant's Fat Fighters.

Popular

However, much of his business comes from summer visitors so he decided to try and boost winter numbers by moving down the coast to the resort which is popular all-year-round.

He said: "Once the summer has gone and the weather is a bit cooler I have got to get my business somewhere else and as much as I would not like to live there long-term I think the best place for the business to expand is Benidorm.

"There is such a concentration of people there within such a small area. I think someone like me doing something a bit different would tap into the market and I think it would be quite easy to do."

In the show Ant goes to the Armanello campsite which has 400 pitches and seemingly good potential. However many of the holidaymakers are Spanish and they already have their own aqua aerobics classes.

He then moves on to the Camping Villamar site where the entertainment is run by Graham 'Happy Days'.

The two campsites agree to allow Ant to run trial sessions and after a slow start he enjoys a successful session at Armanello, while his class also goes down well at Villamar.

Ant added: "If you told me I would be doing this six months ago I would not have believed you. I don't think I could be any prouder of myself than I am now. It is a good feeling to have."

The programme ended with Ant awaiting confirmation from the new management at Villamar, but having secured a spot for next season at Armanello.

Writers raise £500-plus for hospice with support of local businesses

Report by Danielle Thompson

A GROUP of local wordsmiths have put their writing talents to good use for a worthy cause by raising more than £500 for the Queenscourt Hospice.

Members of the Tarleton Creative Writing Group, who meet every Thursday at the village library in Market Square, decided to produce a compilation of their work.

The result was a booklet, entitled Tarleton Tale Tellers, consisting of a mix of short stories, poems and a quiz.

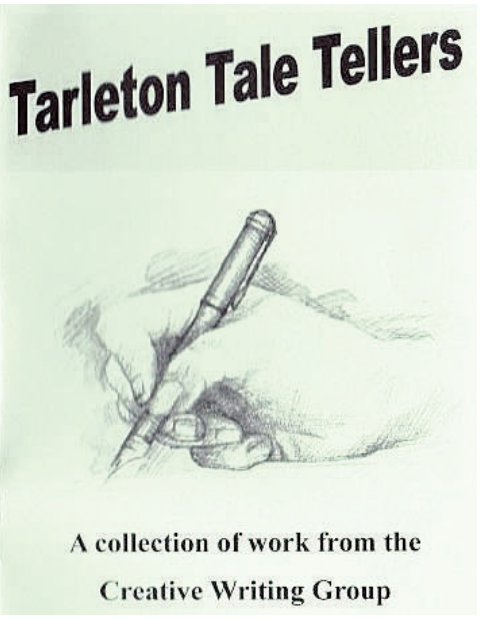
They then sold copies for £2 each at a special one-day event held at Booths supermarket in Hesketh Bank with proceeds going to the hospice in Town Lane, Kew which provides care and support for people from West Lancs, Southport and Formby with serious and life-limiting illnesses.

A number of the booklets were also donated to the hospice to sell in their charity shops in West lancashire and Southport and West Lancs.

To date the sales have raised more than £500 and members of the group plan to present a cheque for the final total to Queenscourt's community fundraiser, Julie McAdam, at Tarleton library on Thursday (February 23).

Anne Wynne-Jones from the Tarleton Creative Writing Group said: "On behalf of the group I would like to thank all those people who made it possible for us to raise a substantial sum for Queenscourt Hospice.

"We are grateful to the library staff, who enable us to meet there every Thursday morning; the financial backing from local businesses who willingly paid for the production of the booklets; and the staff at Booths who encouraged us to sell our wares in the foyer of the supermarket.



The front cover of the Tarleton Creative Writing Group's fundraising booklet

"We met so many lovely people who were interested in our booklet and were very keen to support the hospice in its most important and necessary work.

"We are delighted to be able to send a substantial donation to Queenscourt and I hope that readers will support the traders who enthusiastically championed our venture, Clare's Barbers, Crème de la Crème delicatessen, The DIY shop, Elaine Frances, Libra Health foods, Johnson's the Butchers, Pretty Peas fruit and veg, the Village Dry Cleaners and the Window Box."

Bowel cancer screening explained...

What is bowel cancer screening?

Bowel cancer screening is a simple and private test that can be done at home. People aged 60-74 years, who are registered with a GP, will receive a bowel screening test kit through the post once every two years. It's meant for people with no symptoms and can detect the early signs of bowel cancer. The test looks for tiny traces of blood in the poo, which can't be seen with the naked eye.

Dr Stephen Gaduzo

How do people take the test?

The kit comes with clear step-by-step instructions. You can find out more at www.cruk.org.uk/beclearoncancer

What happens if the test shows blood in the sample?

You should get your test results in the post within two weeks. If your test result is normal, you'll receive your next test kit in the post in two years. If the test shows any blood in your poo, you'll be invited to the hospital for a further test. The letter will explain all the details.

It's important to remember that if there is blood in your poo, it doesn't mean it will turn out to be cancer. There could be many reasons for it. But if it is cancer, catching it at an early stage means it is much easier to treat successfully. Diagnosing cancer early is one of the most powerful ways to beat it.

Why is bowel cancer screening important?

Bowel cancer is the fourth most common cancer in the UK and the risk of developing bowel cancer gets higher as you get older. Bowel cancer screening has been shown to reduce the risk of dying from the disease. It's your choice whether or not to do bowel screening, and you should read the information provided with the test kit to help you decide. I recommend people take the test.

If you have questions, visit www.cruk.org.uk/beclearoncancer or call NHS Freephone on 0800 707 60 60.

"I'm glad I took the test"

Norbert Lawson

Norbert Lawson, 72, from Stockport, was a bit unsure about the bowel screening test when he first received it through the post but he'd read about it in the paper and thought it was probably something he should do.

Norbert's test found tiny traces of blood in his poo, so he was invited to the hospital for a further test. The follow-up test found a small growth in his bowel, but it wasn't cancerous. The hospital removed the growth, as these growths can sometimes develop into cancer later on.

Norbert said "I was treated with the greatest respect and dignity at the hospital. I'm glad I did the test and I'd recommend others to take part in bowel cancer screening."

Report for county council looks at how public services could be reformed

LANCASHIRE County Council has published a report into how public services could be reformed.

The report, produced for the council by professional services firm PwC, suggests how services could work together more efficiently, focusing on individuals and the neighbourhoods they live in, while tackling the financial challenges facing the sector.

The proposals stem from the recognition that all public sector organisations face major financial challenges and a new approach is needed to help improve the health and prosperity of Lancashire residents.

Under the model set out in the report, local councils and health service organisations would pool funding and work together to prevent problems and promote wellbeing rather than reacting to health or social care issues.

Speaking about the report, which will go to the meeting of the full council tomorrow (Thursday, February 23), council leader County Councillor Jennifer Mein, said: "The county council faces the greatest financial challenge in its history, a challenge so great that within a couple of years we will not have the money to deliver the statutory services we must deliver by law. And we know that other public bodies, including councils and health services, are also facing unprecedented financial difficulties.

County Councillor Jennifer Mein

"This report offers a detailed analysis of the current situation and an innovative vision of how public services across Lancashire could work together to deliver more efficient services, designed around the individual in their neighbourhood, focused on preventing problems rather than reacting to them.

"We will need some time to properly consider these proposals. The ideas in the report would also have significant implications for other public sector organisations, who will also need time to consider them. We can then establish whether there is a consensus among partners to move forwards together.

"This is a very radical model that could enable us to collectively save money and provide services much more efficiently but would still leave a significant funding gap for the county. The one thing I can say with absolute certainty is that doing nothing to address this funding crisis is simply not an option."

The report builds on the conclusions of a workshop held by PwC in October 2016, attended by senior leaders from the county's public sector organisations.

There was broad agreement at the meeting for a need to think beyond organisational boundaries and structures to tackle the challenges faced by increasing demands of an ageing population.

'Millie' winners

THE lucky three winners in the Champion's Thoroughly Modern Millie competition for a pair of tickets to see the show at the Liverpool Empire on Monday, February 20 were as follows: Helen Boyers from Ormskirk, April Ashton from Aintree and Tony Feehan from Southport.

Cathedral date

THE Mayor of West Lancs, Councillor Liz Savage and her consort, Councillor Noel Delaney, will attend the Annual Civic Mass to be celebrated by Archbishop Malcolm McMahon at the Metropolitan Cathedral of Christ the King, Liverpool on Sunday, February 26 from 10.30am.

Poster campaign aims to highlight village speeding concerns

SAFETY-conscious youngsters have teamed up with a parish council to highlight speeding issues in a West Lancashire village.

Residents of Heyescroft, a cul-de-sac in Bickerstaffe, held a meeting with members of Bickerstaffe Parish Council to discuss problems experienced with speeding cars on their estate.

Families living there, whose children play on the grass island, have seen near misses when some drivers roar past in the normally quiet area.

Bickerstaffe is one of more than 300 communities across the UK that have joined the non-profit campaign organisation 20's Plenty, which puts pressure on local councils to impose 20mph limits on residential streets.

The organisation campaigns for 20mph to become the default speed limit on residential and urban streets as statistically, 80% of pedestrians hit by cars at speeds of 20mph will live, a figure which reduces drastically at higher speeds.

The parish council held a competition for children in the area to design a 20's Plenty poster to highlight the campaign which was won by keen young artist Eden Hislop for her snail-themed creation.

Bickerstaffe Parish Council chairman Hilary Rosbotham presented Eden with her prize of a watercolour kit, at the event.

Parish clerk, Jackie Smith, said: "A speed of 20 mph is fast enough because statistically if a child is hit by a vehicle travelling at 20 mph, they would have a much better chance of survival than if hit by a vehicle travelling faster - the lower the speed the better their chances."

Police officers to swap helmets for baseball caps!

LANCASHIRE Police are bringing in new uniforms across the county which will introduce baseball caps and see the phasing out of traditional police helmets.

A spokesman for Lancashire Police said: "The baseball cap is part of an updated and more practical police uniform being issued to all officers.

"This includes a new soft-shell black jacket, black body armour, lightweight high-vis jacket and new black shirts. It will see us move away from the traditional custodian helmets and flat hats issued to all male officers and bowler hats for female officers.

"Baseball caps will become the standard head wear for all operational officers. They have a level of protection built in, much like a cycle helmet, and are a practical option to protect our officers whilst undertaking the modern and complex demands placed upon them.

"Whilst such a move away from tradition will inevitably invoke mixed reactions we have worked hard to provide what we believe is the best operational kit whilst realising significant financial savings year on year.

"We will maintain a small stock of traditional headwear for both men and women for ceremonial purposes."

Rural businesses suffering because of 'unfair' rates system

Report by Henry James

Call for urgent review of 'flawed' process

BUSINESSES in rural areas are suffering because of an "unfair" rates system, according to the Country Land and Business Association (CLA).

And the organisation, which represents owners of land, property and businesses in rural England and Wales, is calling for an urgent review of the "flawed" process.

Ross Murray

The CLA has set out an action plan for Treasury ministers to avert what it termed the impending business rates crisis.

President, Ross Murray, said: "Rural businesses are suffering because of a clumsy and unfair rates system. From April, thousands of businesses will see dramatic increases in their rates bill, a problem exacerbated by the political decision to delay revaluation by two years.

"Ministers appear to have a tin ear to this problem and it is not good enough.

"That is why we are setting out an action plan that ministers could adopt as soon as the next Budget on March 8, going some way to defuse a looming rural economic crisis."

In a letter to Treasury chief secretary, David Gauke, the CLA has set out five decisions the government could make immediately, which it says would reduce the burden on businesses, and prevent the damaging situation that many are facing now from ever happening again.

1. Remove the cliff edge. Some of the businesses worst affected by the 2017 revaluation are those whose rateable value has moved from below the 100% rateable relief threshold, to a rateable value above the new threshold. This is a dramatic change in business costs that could threaten their viability. To prevent this, businesses that were exempt under the 2016 Small Business Rate Relief should remain exempt under the 2017 scheme even if their new value has taken them over the threshold.

2. Remove the ban on businesses with multiple properties qualifying for Small Business Rates Relief. Ministers can end the arbitrary discrimination felt by many small rural businesses that are excluded from qualification for 100% rate relief simply because their business includes more than one property.

3. Remove the requirement to pay for appeals for worst affected. Ministers should remove the requirement to pay for an appeal from equine businesses, livestock markets, self-catering accommodation, golf courses and events locations and any other business whose rates rise is a result of a 'scheme" valuation rather than where the Valuation Office Agency has undertaken an individual valuation.

4. Remove rates liability for empty buildings in rural areas. Where properties are unoccupied the property owner is required to pay the rates bill. The grace period is short - only three months for commercial buildings and six months for industrial. This significant cost, at a time when the property is creating no revenue, severely harms the ability to make necessary investments. Grace periods in rural areas should be extended to a minimum of two years to reflect the slower uptake of new property in rural areas.

5. Deliver right, first-time valuations in rural areas. Review the approach to valuation of property, especially in rural areas, to ensure valuations are accurate based on local circumstances and not based on regionally estimated benchmarks.

West Lancs College student a finalist at national education awards

A WEST Lancashire College student was a finalist at the prestigious British Education Awards in Covent Garden, London.

Former Burscough Priory High School pupil, Hannah Fairclough, was nominated in the Vocational Category for her "focus and determination" during her Public Services BTEC National Diploma Level 3 programme at the college in Skemersdale.

The awards event - the first of its kind - honours students from across the UK for exemplary academic and extracurricular achievement.

Hannah joined the course part way through the academic year and with the support of the college and her course tutors she has excelled on the programme.

The college has said Hannah's motivation and outstanding competence levels in her studies has resulted in her being on target to the necessary grades in September with a view to progress to the University of Nottingham to study a BA in criminology.

Mike Cooney, public services tutor at West Lancashire College, said: "We are extremely proud of Hannah for this fabulous achievement, she has worked so hard and deserves this recognition. Well done, Hannah!"

Privatisation not health tourism is biggest threat to future of NHS

IN reply to P Marshall's letter (February 15) regarding health tourism of our NHS.

Health tourism is not the reason our NHS is failing and in crisis. I would argue that the government have made a political choice to destabilise the NHS and prime it for privatisation - in short, the forced drift to privatisation of the NHS, as purposely designed by the Health and Social Care Act 2010.

I am afraid we are, at a pace now, moving towards an USA model of health care. Private companies such as, Virgin Care do not invest in the NHS they take out for profit.

I would ask everyone to check out what professor of public health research and policy at the London School of Medicine, Allyson Pollock, has to say. She lays out not only the legislation 'facts' but also the ideology and agenda behind the 'enabling' of independent providers to procure contracts for NHS provision - namely full-blown privatisation and commercialisation, which, in time, is purposely designed to erode the principles of comprehensive care free at the point of use. This is all available via U Tube.

In the USA 645,000 people a year go bankrupt over medical bills.

It's also worth mentioning that the USA model is responsible for 45,000 preventable deaths a year. Medical costs wealthy Jeremy Hunt will have no problem paying when his family get sick.

The government have created a narrative that does not tell the truth - we're living longer, an ageing population, GPs are at fault, health tourism - when the real truth is, they won't invest.

They do, however, have a solution and that solution is privatisation.

In a civilised society health care should be a basic human right not the property of the rich.

We have a choice - fight for our NHS or our children will rue the day we allowed this government to take our NHS away.

Joe Welsh, Tanhouse, Skelmersdale

Checks should be made to stop abuse of our free emergency treatment

I DIDN'T see the 'Hospital' programme commented on by your correspondent (Letters, February 15) but my experience of having been in hospital abroad may be relevant.

I was taken ill and rushed to hospital in France a few years ago. I received excellent treatment and it cost me nothing on the spot.

But although the staff stabilised my condition and took me to a ward, by the following day I was being quizzed about my insurance arrangements and I was made to feel very glad I had them all in place.

I was only discharged after negotiations with the finance office and getting the insurer to fax confirmation of intention to pay all costs above those covered by my EHIC card.

This was in Europe, long before Brexit, where reciprocal arrangements were in force.

It's not rocket science for immigration officers at points of entry to refuse entry to anyone who can't show evidence of sufficient health insurance cover (£1million seems to be standard for leaving these shores) or for administrative staff at hospitals to be tasked with getting insurance details confirmed and payment agreed by the insurer before significant treatment is given.

A threshold level could be set below which it would be uneconomical to pursue payment, but it's not fair on us UK taxpayers to have to pay for people who come here solely to get free treatment because they know the NHS won't chase them up.

To come here expecting free emergency treatment without insurance at best looks reckless.

To come knowing they will be seeking treatment without proper financial provision to pay for it is at best barefaced cheek and may stray into the territory of fraud, I would have thought.

Better infrastructure needed before any major influx of new homes in Aughton

I RESPOND to the Aughton resident (Champion, February 8) who so vehemently questioned planning policy for the Parrs Lane area.

I am a resident too, not a councillor, but it does seem patently obvious to me significant changes to road provision must be made before additional properties are added.

Town Green Lane and Long Lane are both barely coping with existing traffic.

The junctions around Town Green School are already especially dangerous when children arrive and depart.

This is complicated by access for the surgery and both Town Green and Aughton Park stations.

Other matters need to be resolved e.g. losing fields which contribute to flood control. Can the Alt take even more waste water? Ask those Dyers Lane residents who were flooded out.

You are quite right we need to build homes, particularly at starter level, but until plans are accompanied by adequate infrastructure provision this type of large-scale building will make existing problems impossible to cope with.

Specifically attacking Labour councillors on this subject is bizarre. Read David Westley's views on the subject, I have.

Incidentally, the current Housing Strategy (2014-2019) and West Lancashire Local Plan 2012-2027 were both lanuched during a Conservative-controlled council.

J. Lennon, Aughton

Thanks to Woodlands for all their good work and my relaxing new companion!

I WAS prompted to write after reading the article in the Champion (February 8) about the appeal by Woodlands animal sanctuary for homes for cats.

In October 2015 my friend, who is a volunteer there, told me of a gentle old cat in bad shape which the sanctuary had taken in. She was skinny and in a bad state.

I've never had a cat and was always a dog person, but I couldn't resist her when I saw her and despite all her problems I fell in love at first sight.

Woodlands allowed me to foster her and from the beginning she took to us and vice-versa and I'm convinced she is good for my blood pressure!

I'm 74 now and not able to walk dogs anymore so I appreciate the fact that cats don't need the same amount of exercise.

She is company, makes me relax and I love her to bits.

Many thanks must go to Woodlands for uniting us and for all the good work they do in caring for all those animals.

Pauline O'Keefe, Ormskirk

We should never stop fighting to preserve our green space

I WOULD like to say a big thank-you to both the Aughton Residents Committee and Lancashire Council for continuing to fight to keep Aughton green and such a lovely place to live.

It is refreshing to live in an area that cares about its green space.

The surrounding countryside of Aughton and Ormskirk lifts your spirit and brings joy to your heart.

Whether you back on to open countryside or not we are all surrounded by beautiful countryside which is why Aughton remains such a highly sought-after area to live and raise our families.

People wanting Aughton to become one large housing estate should be careful what they wish for and should be thankful they have room to breathe and enjoy nature.

There seems to be a lot of naivety in thinking that Redrow or Wainhomes would provide affordable housing.

They are more likely to keep this to the bare minimum. A range of four and five-bedroomed luxury homes which the minority could afford would be built for maximum profit to the house builder.

I hope we never stop fighting to keep our green space so that generations to come can enjoy it.

Guest speaker Gail Godson (centre, wearing red) and members of the New Ormskirk Residents' Group with some of the 'twiddle muffs' that they have made

Residents' group given talk on living with dementia

MEMBERS of a non-political community campaign group enjoyed a talk and interactive session delivered by the manager of a local care provider for dementia sufferers.

Gail Godson of West Lancs-based Home Instead, which provides quality care to enable people with dementia to live at home independently for as long as possible, was guest speaker at the February meeting of the New Ormskirk Residents Group (NORG).

The well-attended event represented a departure from the usual monthly topics covered and was designed to highlight the fact that it is time to adjust to a new future in which dementia is part of all our lives – as carers, patients or just members of a society in which those living with the disease will have to integrate into communities, rather than living on the fringes.

Gail's background is steeped in health being a qualified nurse, midwife and having held senior NHS clinical roles.

Meanwhile members of the group, who liaise with council officers, police and Edge Hill University over a range of issues concerning the town, showed Gail the knitted 'twiddle muffs' that they have been making to donate to local dementia sufferers.

These are knitted hand warmers which feature items such as buttons, ribbons or textured fabric attached to keep dementia patients who may become agitated, busy with their hands.

Marketing chiefs say campaign to boost visitor numbers is gaining momentum

OFFICIALS at Marketing Lancashire say their campaign to put the county's food and drink on the national culinary map is continuing to build momentum.

The organisation, which aims to grow the visitor economy and develop the destination as a great place to visit, work and invest, has been involved with a series of press features, a best-selling Lancashire cookbook, and received national recognition at the start of the year.

A visit from BBC Radio 4's flagship food and drink show, The Food Programme, which has more than two million listeners, saw presenter Sheila Dillon return to her Lancashire roots, while Olive magazine's four-page travel feature focussed on the thriving food and drink scene of the Ribble Valley.

And the Lancashire Cookbook, published in 2016 by Meze Publishing, and prefaced by Visit Lancashire, became a best-seller, beating Nigella Lawson, Yotam Ottolenghi and Jamie Oliver.

Proud

Ruth Connor, chief executive of Marketing Lancashire, said: "There has been an undeniable step change in the awareness of Lancashire's exceptional food and drink offer.

"We are extremely proud of our producers, chefs and hospitality champions who work so hard to make and to serve the best.

"We are a force to be reckoned with when we collaborate, and pivotal events like our Lancashire Day pop-up lunch in London brought together some of Lancashire's finest chefs and producers, giving the UK's top journalists a taste of Lancashire and tempting them to visit us and see for themselves."

Food and drink is worth around £756m to Lancashire's visitor economy, accounting for 20% of all tourism revenue and is a key theme of the newly-launched #WeAreLancashire campaign telling the story of Lancashire's strengths and assets and is aimed at attracting more interest and investment to the region.

ANTIBIOTICS DON'T WORK FOR A COLD OR FLU

Antibiotics don't work for colds or flu because they're viral infections, so ask your pharmacist for the best treatment for you. Taking antibiotics when you don't need them encourages dangerous bacteria that live inside you to become resistant. That means that antibiotics may not work when you next need them most. This puts you and your family at serious risk.
When it comes to antibiotics, take your doctor's advice.

Mould, Damp or Salt on the walls?

Almost every homeowner at some time in their lives, experiences damp problems.

Mildew, efflorescence (salts on the surface of the wall) and blistering plaster, means it needs treating as soon as possible and the plaster replacing with a "breathable" alternative.

BKM Mannesmann UK ltd has a simple but technologically advanced treatment system for rising and penetrative damp.

The process protects inside or outside walls of all construction types and materials.

The technology is developed from extensive experience in Germany and is now available in your area.

The BKM product microscopically coats all the pores in the material, creating a hydrophobic barrier in all types of brick, stone-work, masonry, cement and lime render.

It can be "gravity-fed" or pressure infused into the walls, dependent upon the condition of the wall.

BKM also has an external breathable wall protection application, which seals all types of render, salt impregnated brick-work. Lime based paints and render can also be protected under the 25-year Guarantee.

Lucas Maszkowski, Regional Director for BKM Mannesmann UK ltd, says, "Thanks to this publication, there are many people in Lancashire and Merseyside who have recently installed our system and are extremely satisfied with the results."

'Routine' tasks seem to take so much longer these days...

I CAN'T be the only person totally mystified by the length of time it now seems necessary to complete tasks that somehow always seemed simple and routine.

As a local example of this last year the money was found to resurface a very short road near where I live. This road rarely sees any traffic larger than an occasional private car (if you discount the six-wheel diesel juggernauts that pick up material for recycling from time to time) along its perhaps 100-yard length.

A very nice job was made of it too. But the whole thing occupied weeks of work for various contractors, with disruption to those who live in the road, and to pedestrians trying to cross it. I'm pretty certain that the Romans could have completed several miles of Watling Street in the time it took!

And it's not just relatively small, local projects that are subjected to this lengthy process. During the Second World War a certain Mr Hitler dropped rather large bombs on the railway viaducts between Sandhills and the centre of Liverpool, and back then there were far more tracks than there are today. But he must have been very disappointed when the stalwart Liverpudlian rail workers completed repairs in 24 hours. Today, if an over-tall lorry even grazes a railway bridge (a 'bridge strike'!) the whole shebang is often shut down for several days.

In my native Maghull, a land mine (I think) was probably inadvertently dropped in the middle of a local hotel's bowling green but within days the crater had been filled with general rubble, the green resurfaced with grass and it ended up what was probably the best green locally because the hardcore meant it dried out very quickly after a rainstorm with the surface water transferring into the brook running more or less alongside.

The really big one at the moment is the planned HS2 and HS3 high-speed railway links between London and Scotland (neatly, as always, avoiding Merseyside). But, if like me you are in possession of your bus pass, then it's quite unlikely you will live to see the completion of this project as it will have taken decades before a spark flies.

How on earth can this be? With nothing but navvies using sweat and spades, the original line from Liverpool to London was built in the time already taken drawing and re-drawing the proposed route - and even when the line is complete (if it ever is) judging by today's standards it will take another three to five years to make sure the train works and teach people how to drive it.

Wind back to 1935 and the old LNER (London and North Eastern Railway) decided they needed a new, high-speed link from London to Newcastle, initially, and a year or so later, to Edinburgh. The board had a chat with their chief engineer, Sir Nigel Gresley and within months he had come up with his iconic streamlined A4 pacific locomotive, one of which, Mallard, still holds the world steam speed record 80 years later.

And amazingly - by present day standards - not only was the first A4 Silver Link ready for service within the year, but so too was a completely new train to go with it. The whole ensemble was ready to start the new Silver Jubilee service on time on September 27, 1935. And she ran the 356-mile round trip for 13 days until the second of the A4s, Quicksilver, was ready for service.

So the project was completed in a year and it worked straight out of the box! And while Silver Link's four-hour timing to Newcastle would seem pretty small beer today, at the time it was groundbreaking and the speed with which the train was built and commissioned would make present railway engineers wince!

Classic car club stalwart takes a back seat after 12 years in the chair

THE long-serving chairman of the West Lancs MG Owners' Club is stepping down to take on a less demanding role with the group.

Nigel Malyan, who has held the post for 12 years, stood down at the club's first committee meeting of the year at the Briars Hall Hotel in Lathom and has been succeeded by Ralph Greenhalgh.

Group spokesman, Steve Kirton said: "Ours is a very successful car club which is in its 38th year of bringing together friends owning and enjoying MGs and classic cars in West Lancashire.

"Congratulations to Ralph on his new appointment and thanks to Nigel, who will be taking a less demanding role on the committee.

"Thanks also go to Tom Harrison, who has joined the committee and takes over as membership officer, and a very big thank-you to Cam Cunningham who was voted in as honorary secretary for another three years, making it 18 years in office so far."

Right: Over to you...Nigel Malyan presents the chairman's gavel to his successor, Ralph Greenhalgh.

Still time to have a say on council's draft 'green infrastructure' plan

THERE is still time for residents in West Lancashire to have their say on an important document with regards to green spaces and walking and cycling routes in the borough.

West Lancs Council is seeking the public's views on its draft Green Infrastructure and Cycling Strategy.

The strategy looks to establish a high-quality, accessible network for green infrastructure and cycling that links the borough's major settlements with one another and with visitor attractions.

Councillor John Hodson, the council's portfolio holder for planning, said "We have received a number of comments on the draft strategy but we really want to hear from as many people as possible, so if you haven't given your views already please get in contact with us.

"The strategy is an exciting vision that will help the council deliver impressive projects to improve the environment, enhance opportunities for recreation and provide further opportunities for travel other than by car, so it is important you give your comments."

Green infrastructure refers to the connected network of open spaces, green corridors and inland waterways around us and can deliver a range of benefits.

Councillor John Hodson

These include providing wildlife habitats and creating potential benefits for health and well-being.

It also aims to provide opportunities for sustainable forms of travel and leisure, particularly walking and cycling.

The Green Infrastructure and Cycling Strategy has a set of objectives and contains a wide range of potential future projects and initiatives.

Projects the council and partners will look to develop over the coming years include improvements to Tawd Valley Park in Skelmersdale, improvements to canal towpaths and delivering four linear parks.

The 'West Lancashire Wheel' would be created to form a circular route between Skelmersdale, Ormskirk, Burscough and Parbold by delivering two of the four linear parks (Skelmersdale-Ormskirk and Ormskirk-Burscough) and by adding to and improving existing cycle routes and canal towpaths.

The public consultation on the draft strategy ends on Friday, March 10.

To find out more and download the comment form, which must be used to submit views, go to the council's website www.westlancs.gov.uk/gicstrategy.

You can also obtain a paper copy of the strategy and comments form from your local library, the council offices in Ormskirk or the council's customer service point in the Concourse Shopping Centre, Skelmersdale.

Completed comment forms can be emailed to localplan@westlancs.gov.uk or posted to: Strategic Planning and Implementation Team, West Lancashire Borough Council, 52 Derby Street, Ormskirk, L39 2DF.

For further information email the council's strategic planning and implementation team at localplan@westlancs.gov.uk or call 01695 585284 or 01695 585393.

All reasonable comments received will be considered in producing a final strategy.

Call for new approach to borough's potholed roads

...but county transport chief says we're not getting a bad deal

MEMBERS of independent group Our West Lancashire (OWL) are calling for action from Lancashire County Council and a new approach to the potholed roads in the borough.

But the county's transport chief has said that West Lancs has been in the top three districts for planned spending on resurfacing in the last two years and is not getting a bad deal compared with other districts in the county.

OWL activist, Ian Davis, said: "Last year, our research uncovered that West Lancashire had the worst potholed roads in the county and recently it was revealed that Cottage Lane in Ormskirk was voted the worst road in England by long-suffering motorists. Thankfully, it has now been resurfaced, but clearly we need a new approach to tackling road repairs from the county council."

Fellow OWL member, Gordon Johnson, added: "Our West Lancashire are promoting a four-point action plan.

"Firstly, we need changes to the funding system, so that more money is spent in the parts of Lancashire where the roads are in worst condition. This would benefit West Lancs.

"Then we need to make sure that the repairs are completed 'right first time'."

The group would also like to see repairs done more quickly by employing staff to inspect road surfaces instead of relying on residents to report potholes.

And they would abandon the current system which sees potholes repaired in a strict list/priority order and instead fix all potholes in a neighbourhood at the same time to reduce travel time and costs.

However, County Councillor John Fillis, Lancashire's cabinet member for highways and transport, responded: "There was a period following last winter's floods when we received a lot of reports about damaged roads in West Lancashire, which had been badly affected, however we have now carried out the necessary repairs.

"Derby Street, Cottage Lane and Yew Tree Road in Ormskirk have all benefited from extensive maintenance in the last six months. The government has recognised that we are in the top three in the country for dealing with road maintenance calling Lancashire County Council 'exemplary'.

"West Lancashire has been in the top three districts for planned spending on resurfacing in the last two years, so is not getting a bad deal compared with other districts."

New drive to recruit more foster carers

WITH around 20 children in the county needing homes each week, Lancashire County Council is again seeking to recruit new foster carers.

The authority has recently increased the allowances payable to new foster carers by at least £115 per week in recognition of their valuable role and the rising demand for placements.

Newly-approved foster carers can expect to receive between £241 and £415 for each child they care for.

People who may have considered fostering but weren't sure they could afford to are invited to an information evening to find out if it could now be a viable option.

This is being held tonight (Wednesday, February 22) starting at 6pm at County Hall, Pitt Street, Preston.

There's no need to book but you are asked to arrive early to avoid disappointment. There will be an opportunity to meet experienced social workers and current carers and ask questions.

The council is looking for people who can foster children of all ages, particularly siblings who need to stay together and teenagers. No formal experience or qualifications are needed, all they ask is that you have a spare room available and a desire to make a difference to a local child's life.

A package of support is available 24/7 to help foster carers in their role, including local support groups, their own social worker, a dedicated helpline and flexible training.

If you're unable to attend on the night but would like more information call the fostering recruitment team on 0300 123 6723 or visit the website at www.lancashire.gov.uk/fostering .

Survey seeks users' views on county's mental health services

PEOPLE who use NHS community mental health services in Lancashire are being encouraged to take part in a survey to drive future service improvements.

Lancashire Care NHS Foundation Trust is carrying out the 2017 Community Mental Health Survey to find out what those who use these services think about the care they receive in order to improve people's experiences.

Dee Roach

The survey is led by the Care Quality Commission (CQC) as part of a national programme to improve mental health services for local populations.

This year the survey will be sent to 850 people aged 18 and over who have recently used the trust's services. The results will help the trust see where they are performing well and to identify any areas where there is room for improvement.

Those chosen to take part will receive a copy of the questionnaire to complete between February and June. The results of the survey will be presented in a form that does not allow any individual's answers to be identified.

Results of the survey will be published by the CQC in November 2017 and will be shared by the trust.

Dee Roach, Lancashire Care NHS Foundation Trust's executive director of nursing and quality, said: "We hope that the people who use our services will take the time to help us with this survey. Their views are vital in helping us to find out how we are doing and how we can improve. This is an excellent way for people to help shape the services we provide in the future."

Anyone with queries or concerns about the survey can contact Dawn Kenyon on 01772 695366 or email involvement@lancashirecare.nhs.uk.

Psychiatrist earns top regional award

A CONSULTANT Psychiatrist with the Lancashire Care NHS Foundation Trust has won an important regional award for his work in mental health.

Professor Nusrat Husain was named Clinical Research Role Model of the Year at the prestigious North West Coast Research and Innovation Awards 2017.

His nomination described his dedication to addressing inequalities in access to health care and clinical insightfulness as a research leader committed to addressing mental health inequalities in the UK. And his research into depression and self-harm which disproportionately affects low-income British South Asian women was particularly highlighted as having a powerful impact.

Professor Husain said: "It is a huge honour for myself, the trust and for Lancashire to receive this award. My work along with the very hard work and dedication of my team over the last 10 years focused on addressing the health inequalities within the Lancashire region. We have received a lot of support from the community."

She is younger than Madonna but she eats crisps and likes wine, and is too young to die, but too old to stand near the edge in case she gets dizzy and falls over.

Professional Grumpy old woman Jenny Eclair announces How to Be a Middle-Aged Woman (Without Going Insane), which returns to St George's Hall's Concert Room on Sunday, March 5 by popular demand.

Tackling questions such as, is swearing better than crying, HRT or boxercise – you decide, Jenny takes to the stage to explore some of the rubbish that surrounds the ageing process.

To be in with a chance of winning the tickets answer the following question – where will Jenny Eclair be performing in Liverpool. Answers to Jenny Eclair competition, Clare House, 166 Lord Street, Southport, PR9 OQA by Wednesday, March 1 at 12 noon. The editor's decision is final.

Win tickets to hit show

THE new 20th Anniversary production of Jonathan Larson's ground-breaking Pulitzer Prize- and Tony Award-winning musical RENT is coming to Liverpool and the Champion has tickets for the show to give away.

RENT will play the Liverpool Empire from Tuesday, February 28 to Saturday, March 4 and readers can win tickets to see the show on February 28 at 7.30pm only.

Jonathan Larson's musical, inspired by Puccini's opera La Bohème, won four Tony Awards, six Drama Desk Awards and the Pulitzer Prize for Drama in 1996.

RENT ran on Broadway for 12 years, from 1996 to 2008.

Larson's world is inhabited by a group of bohemian artists who struggle to maintain their friendships and their non-conformist ideals in New York's East Village. Facing their problems head on, they make personal self-discoveries and find what really matters most in life.

A scene from Rent

To be in with a chance of winning the tickets, answer the following question – how many years did Rent run on Broadway? Answers to henry.james@champnews.com by 12noon on Friday, February 24. Please supply your address and a daytime contact number. The editor's decision is final.

Skem left licking their wounds as opponents prove too strong

By Neil Leatherbarrow

Hednesford Town 5
Skelmersdale United 0

AFTER a couple of promising performances United were left licking their wounds as their Staffordshire opponents proved too strong.

The game was effectively decided at half-time as Hednesford scored three in the opening 45 minutes.

Just six minutes had elapsed when Hednesford got their first. Stuart McNaught had a shot saved but the rebound fell to George Washbourne who steered the ball home.

Hednesford continued to press and Cheetham made a fine save on 14 minutes, standing his ground when David McDermott was put into a one on one situation.

A neat move down the right saw the ball delivered low across the 18 yard line, midfielder McNaught arrived late on the scene and lashed a shot across the penalty area through a forest of legs into the bottom corner to make it 2-0.

Skem's Michael Vaughan-Muscat showed a wonderful piece of vision in the middle of the park when putting a 30 yard ball straight through the Hednesford defence.

Remmy Howarth sprinted onto it and rounded home goalkeeper Dan Crane but took a slightly heavy touch allowing home defender Nat Brown to get a toe to the ball. Crane was forced to lay the ball back to Jack Watts and his shot was blocked.

Skem did a lot better for the next 20 minutes, but things turned against them on 44 minutes when the referee gave Hednesford a free-kick right on the edge of the penalty area.

Glover hit the free-kick and Cheetham failed to hold, the ball dropping to Dan Brenan who scored.

Vaughan-Muscat went close with a clever shot on the turn on 56 minutes, but it was all over for Skem two minutes later when Cheetham miskicked a back pass and Glover was able to net easily.

In the 70th minute Skem's Vaughan-Muscat was given a straight red card for a high challenge on McDermott.

It led to a brawl in the middle of the pitch and two Hednesford players were booked.

To rub some salt into Skelmersdale's wounds, three minutes later McDermott got on the end of a Washbourne cross to make it 5-0.

Both teams facing 'must win' games

Report by Neil Leatherbarrow

SKELMERSDALE United and Burscough arguably face 'must win' matches on Saturday and both have a good chance of getting three points.

Skelmersdale entertain fellow strugglers Sutton Coldfield Town and Burscough who have picked up four points out of the last six are at home to Hyde United, both games kick off at 3pm.

Skelmersdale United manager Alan Rogers will be tackling his fifth game in the dug-out and although his first two games showed plenty of promise, both against footballing outfits, Saturday saw Skem lack the physicality to cope with a bigger, stronger Hednesford side and hence highlighted some of the problems he will face if he is to lift the Skem team.

Saturday's opposition are not a big side like Hednesford, plus they don't have the best of away records, out of14 games they have lost 10, so they should suit Skelmersdale's strength, fast passing football. Skelmersdale were due to have played at home last night against Matlock Town a club they drew 1-1 against back in August, but at the time of going to print we don't know the result of that one.

Burscough have won 2-0 against AFC Goole and drawn 1-1 at Brighouse Town and were only denied victory in Yorkshire last weekend by a superb late save, so they will go into the Hyde game with confidence probably as high as it has been all season.

Hyde sit in a mid-table 13th position with 40 points from 31 matches, leaving them neither in the promotion race or in danger of the drop so may well be vulnerable to a Burscough team that have shown a good collective spirit since Christmas.

The Linnets' scheduled game for last night at Glossop North End was postponed because of a waterlogged pitch. So that will also give manager Keith McCann time to prepare for the visit of Hyde.

Linnets battled for point - and nearly took all three

Brighouse Town 1
Burscough 1

A VERY thin on the ground Burscough brought back an impressive point against promotion hopefuls.

They could even have snatched all three points deep into added time, as only a superb save by Brighouse goalkeeper Thomas Taylor kept out Joe Nicholson.

Under pressure for much of the game, Burscough went behind in the 19th minute then doggedly held on as Brighouse pressed for a second goal.

The Linnets finished strongly though and they levelled 14 minutes from the end before coming so close to grabbing victory.

The Brighouse goal came as the result of some over-elaborate passing in the Burscough midfield, not for the first time in recent weeks.

Adam Baker pounced on the loose ball in the centre-circle before swiftly heading for the Linnets goal and tidily slotting the ball across goalkeeper Ritchie Mottram and low into the net.

Just before the half-hour Joe Nicholson was put in alongside a home defender who was hustling him all the way to the edge of the Brighouse box, from where his shot was pushed away by 'keeper Taylor.

In the quarter-hour before the interval despite more of the possession the best the Yorkshiremen could produce was a shot from Michael Fish that went wide of the Linnets goal and a header from Ben Wharton that really should have troubled Mottram much more than it did, both initiated by excellent runs down the right by Baker a recent signing for Brighouse from Tadcaster Albion.

Wharton hit the Burscough crossbar on 56 minutes and Mottram made a couple of good near-post saves in the period after half-time as Brighouse continued to press, but again they found the Linnets a determined bunch.

There was to be no victory salvo from Brighouse and everything changed in the 76th minute. Joe Nicholson played a raking ball out high onto the right, Sean Richards headed it into the penalty area, from where Adam Gilchrist took one touch to control the ball and a second to sweep it into the Brighouse goal for the equaliser.

In the next three minutes Wharton shot wide and headed wide, but gradually Burscough got more of the play and Josh Nicholson put a dipping one just over the home crossbar in the 86th minute.

On 89 minutes Gilchrist fired just wide of the Brighouse goal.

Then three minutes into added time Richards combined with Phil Bannister on the right and the latter put Joe Nicholson in, goalkeeper Thomas saving with an outstretched right-foot.

And just to emphasise how close Burscough had gone to winning, the referee blew for full-time as Brighouse punted the ball clear.
